

UNLIMITED FREE BROADBAND

Coming soon for households on the Dryden Estate

This service will provide unlimited internet access, which can be used for work and education, leisure, access to public services and community engagement

The service, which is linked to a study by the University of Sheffield with the help of local community researchers, is safe and family friendly with content filters.

After 12 months, households can choose to carry on using the service at a fair cost to be decided by community representatives

Users will have access to a community portal managed by community representatives with information about local events and services.

Internet speeds and usage will not be monitored or capped.
